Everywhere, let’s face up to the emergency of social justice and ecological transition

Acted is an international NGO that helps 18 million people in 42 countries through more than 500 humanitarian, development and environmental projects. Acted relies on a network of local and global partners and a detailed knowledge of the territories, as well as on a multidisciplinary approach adapted to each context to contribute to a world of "Zero Exclusion, Zero Carbon, Zero Poverty."

A capital with an international reputation, Paris is committed to the ecological transition and social justice. Through solidarity actions and cooperation projects, Paris transcends and enriches its exchanges with the rest of the world to promote its ambitious transformation program. Since its creation in 1960, Macif has been a committed citizen insurance company, whose economic project primarily serves the human project. A multi-business insurance company with mutualist values, it brings together nearly 5.7 million member-clients who pool their risks and share their savings. Macif reinvests part of its profits to carry out actions of the benefit of its members in the common interest.
